DECEMBER 2004

Growth Through His Strength

There have been many things happening at St.

Andrew's lately. This last month we have witnessed the confirmation of six and the ordination of two. Bishop Morse on his last Episcopal visit jokingly made the comment that "we had done every service in the prayer book." Yes, many things have been happening. I believe that St. Andrew's is going through a period of growth, but a few things need to be kept in mind.

With any growth, growing pains may be expected. These pains are only the manifestation of the enemy working against us, as "we do not wrestle against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this age, against spiritual hosts of wickedness in the heavenly places" (Eph. 6:12). When I first came to St. Andrew's it became immediately apparent that there were many dear souls committed to serving their Lord, often working behind the scenes, performing those tasks that make worship and fellowship so precious. I know that at times we feel weary, and that all of our strength is gone. The Apostle Paul reminds us to "...not grow weary while doing good, for in due season we shall reap if we do not lose heart" (Gal. 6:9). It is when we reach the end of our strength and can do no more, that God gives us of His strength to carry on. A. C. Dixon related this story about a friend of his.

"A dear friend of mine who was quite a lover of the chase, told me the following story: 'Rising early one morning,' he said, 'I heard the baying of a score of deerhounds in pursuit of their quarry. Looking away to a broad, open field in front of me, I saw a young fawn making its way across, and giving signs, moreover, that its race was well-nigh run. Reaching the rails of the enclosure, it leaped over and crouched within ten feet from where I stood. A moment later two of the hounds came over, when the fawn ran in my direction and pushed its head between my legs. I lifted the little thing to my breast, and, swinging round and round, fought off the dogs. I felt, just then, that all the dogs in the West could not, and should not capture that fawn after its weakness had appealed to my strength. 'So is it, when human helplessness appeals to Almighty God. Well do I remember when the hounds were after my soul, until at last, I ran into the arms of Almighty God.'

Let us not weary in doing good, but rather let us run for the strength and safety of "the everlasting arms" of our loving Father, and remember His words to us through the Apostle Paul: "My grace is sufficient for you, for my strength is made perfect in weakness." (2 Cor. 12:9)

The First Christmas

Alpha L. Buntain

Over sleeping Bethlehem
and Judea's plains afar, Shone a wondrous radiance
from a shining star;
Angels bore a message,
down from Heaven's height,
To the humble shepherds
watching o'er their flocks that night.

"Glory to God in the highest,"
thus the angels sang;
All earth seemed to listen
while the heavenly chorus rang.
"Peace on earth, good will to men,"
God's message from above;
And in a lowly manger
lay the token of His love.

The shepherds came in wandering haste
to that humble manger bed;
They found the Infant Jesus,
just as the angel said.
Their hearts were filled with praise to God, faces glad and bright,
As they told of all the marvels
they had seen and heard that night.

And so, this Christmas season,
may our hearts with gladness glow,
As we read the blessed story that took place so long ago.

May we tell to those around us,
tell it over once again,
How our Saviour brought unto us
"Peace on earth, good will to men."
